Test of Drivers, Autos Proposed

Commerce Chamber Makes Submission In Insurance Brief

Test of the mechanical efficiency of automobiles and examination of the physical condition and prior history of those applying for driver's license is advocated by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce in a brief being submitted to the specific provincial committee enquiring into compulsory automobile insurance.

The committee met Wednesday at Edmonton's legislative buildings but no report was issued from the session.

The Chamber of Commerce suggested efforts of the specific committee should be directed toward seeking a practical and simple plan for the reduction in the frequency of accidents and the establishment of a system of adequate indemnification for accident victims.

Goal of the insurance rates can be best achieved by reduction in the number of accidents, and that government efforts should be directed toward achieving that by participation in the insurance business, the Chamber suggests.

Inclusion of safety requirements in the insurance application required, both by the motorists and the public, large, with corresponding reduction in the cost of the public, in the opinion of the trade body.

The Chamber also is of the opinion that compulsory insurance can become a form of nuisance tax and does not tend to lower the accident frequency.

The brief points out that government entry into the insurance field is inconsistent with, and in contradiction to, its aim of promotion of development of private enterprise.

NO ROUTE SET

Mr. MacMillan said no immediate recommendation of a particular route would be made until the province had submitted the matter to the federal government, although a brief for the consideration of the minister of public works.

For further consideration are routes from Medicine Hat to Lethbridge, Medicine Hat to Gleichen and Calgary to Lethbridge via Jasper highway through Edmonton.

Improvement of the two southbound Alberta roads has been recommended.

TO HANG FOR ATROCITIES

Japan's wartime premier, Hideki Tojo, is shown as he walked wearily from courtroom in Tokyo. Six other high-ranking Japanese were doomed to gallows for their part in more than 1,000,000 atrocity deaths during war.

$50 Millions Program For Oil Sands Talked

An American syndicate will spend $1,500,000 on engineering and research projects at McMurray oil sands, and may spend an eventual $50,000,000 on the developments.

Proposal was made unofficially to provincial government officials while the syndicate was in New York City, ex-champion boxer, in behalf of the New York syndicate, which has been granted a lease on the Oilsands Ltd., and John E. Sydie of the same firm were present at the meeting.

Official plan later. Hon. Louis Maynard, attorney general, told The Bulletin today the official proposal outlining the $50 million project had been received by the government.

"Mr. Tunney said he would outline the plan for us and forward it to you as soon as possible," the government official said.

Mr. Tunney said the syndicate intended to invest $100,000 in the test oil sands plant at McMurray to raise $1,300,000 for initial engineering and research projects there.

This would be followed by construction of a separation plant of 20,000-barrel per day capacity.

MICHAEL COST

Refinery and pipeline to carry the product to market would also be built, and the total capital and minimum expenditure to complete the work would be about $30,000,000.

Construction is made in the proposal to protect Oilsands Ltd., the oil company at McMurray, and the oil sands plant at Lethbridge, owned by Oilsands Ltd., which has advised the provincial government its interest is due to come before Alberta Supreme court.

Mr. Champion, president of the company, said the court action may be halted as a result of the latest statement from the New York syndicate.

Religion

Pope Pius has declared his intention of passing April 2, 1949—the 50th anniversary of his ordination—as a day of prayer and devotions.

O'Brien, Jenkins Brawl in Picture

Ripe Tomato Which Lands Begins Fighting Episode

Film brawls of the past faded into insignificance when Margaret O'Brien and Birch Jenkins staged a classic brawl for the cameras in the filming of Big City, which opens at the Empress Theatre today.

All happened when a very ripe tomato was dropped onto Margaret's face for a scene in the new comedy drama. The Director, George Murphy, was referring, and with three cameras trained on the action, Margaret had to drop the tomato and then throw it from a left foot to the shin, and then took a death grip on the tomato as they wrestled in the dirt.

STRONGLY DEFENSIVE

For Birch it was strictly a defensive fight, not an attacking one, following the incident he said. "I couldn't hit a lady anyway, even if the script allowed it," he said. Birch, Jenkins' co-star in the cast of the new Joe Pasternak production, which features Robert Preston, Dorothy Lamour and George Murphy as Margaret's "adoptive" father. Edward Arnold as the judge, and Jeanne Crain as the adoption, and Karen Booth as the "heiress" third.

BETTY BOOP MAKES DEBUT

Betty Boop, Broadway musical comedy star of Call Me Mister, makes her screen debut in the MGM comedy drama with music Big City. The singing comedienne, whose version of South America Take It Away, won her fame, has been cast in the title role of the new picture, among them I'm Going to See a Lot of You. Don't Be Afraid, Me and My Baby, and Little Lehmann. Metropolitan Opera star, also receives her motion picture debut as a singing role a dramatic as well as a singing role. A highlight of Mine, Lehmann's singing career, is the title number Lullaby, Traumerei, The Merry Dance and God Bless America.

Halligan in Town For Friday Fight

Stocky Negro Expects to Give MacDonald Hard Time

Athens-born Eddie (Bolo) Halligan was "Skins" Ed-Negro, who fights out of Spokane these times and numbers the onetime boxing great Henry Armstrong as a personal friend, also was telling it that he expected to give Roddy MacDonald "a hard time" of it come Friday night at the Stock Pavilion.

"No, I don't know much about this boy MacDonald," he admitted. "But I've been fighting often enough now to know what to expect." His shape? "Not long after his arrival promoter Gene Mason had hustled him into the ring and found that they were all wrapped up in the Flyer-Calgary contest at the Arena last Saturday night, when Halligan was still in town. Just before the third period started Halligan, who was training his spurs on hockey for the first time, was introduced to the crowd.

SKIES HOCKEY

"I like it man, but that's a mighty fast game," he enthused about the puck sport. "From now on I'm just going to play it and forget it when I get back home in Spokane."

He's been around, this colored lad, and has a good, strong, well voice. He took his first whack at professional boxing in 1940. Since then he's been in the ring and out to battle for more than just a handful in such centers as Spokane, Wash., (where he beat Beno (raise you five), Vallejo, San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver . . . more than 200 bouts).

Halligan never has been knocked out, although quite aware of the possibility, and he's got the technical knockout route.

"Sure I've taken a few licks," he said. "I've never been knocked out in the fight business hasn't."

Armstrong, now his friend, long ago told him that the best fighter should be. "Henry did some work on my right han' one time. You should hit him with your left, he should hit with his right."

According to Halligan, his idol never will go to the ring again, but he's still in the game. "The last time he fought he once held three world titles simultaneously and has a stable of good

ROBINSON ADMIRER

"Don" talk about Satchel Paige," Halligan laughed when the colorblind and lamer, Charlie Lewis, Clevelander and humorist, "Lees" talk about Jackie Robinson.

He's a great admirer of the Brooklyn infidels.

Halligan expects to make his debut against Roddy MacDonald. To look at him he certainly won't go any more. There's no question about it. He's a solid boy, as we know them in every gym in the land.

That Grey Cup 'Special'

Thursday tidbits and what's this we hear about plane being made to guarantee that Edmonton football followers will take over at least one car on that Stampeder strip going down the road to the west wind-up? Those behind the train have made a deal with the railroad company to provide transportation—both ways—for just under 100 rocks... And whaddie know? The choo-choo will carry a banner reading "Calgary: the oil centre of Canada" and "We'll bring them their Middle East." Peterson, Rocky Mountain House's hurling gift to organized baseball, was a visitor to the city Wednesday... Keen to head back south again and get in on some winter baseball Peterson found himself balked of his intention when he failed to get the green light from Brooklyn, while some minor league organization he belongs to did. Speaking of baseball there's a good chance that the local picture, as it concerns the Big Four inter-city circuit, will be scrambled slightly before the teams head into training next spring... Oddly enough the Russians might be considered to have brought about the scrambling, if it comes. We can't say more.

Eddie Halligan, the coast puncher who mixes it with Roddy MacDonald at the Stock Pavilion Friday (why don't we have a contest to select a new name?), is nutty about swimming and hunting when not tossing darts.

There are the factions (is there more than one?) interested in backing an Edmonton team in the Western Football Conference will meet today to discuss ways and means.

Newsome With Mercury

Here of the only 1-0 fixture in the history of the modern WCHL at Newsome's the scored the goal as Flyers edged Calgary by 1-0 in the southern Alberta season, 1946-47 will likely line up with coach Jimmie Grant's "Valley Mercury" of last year. Alberta's intermediate looks... This is what we do without: Hockey players who insist on going halfway across the rink to slap a teammate lightly with stick because he has a goal... This is particularly reprehensible in pucksters who are the play-for-the-clap crowd; consider that this is what the coach does. Of course there's a "big" goal every now and then through a season that might warrant an extra show of enthusiasm... Alberta's open golf champion, blind Bloody Loftus, all but hacked the end off a finger not long ago... * * * * * Whatever became of the "Wild Bill" Hump, the noisy Saskatoon coach, to lure Nick Metz out of retirement? Note: Eddie Shore is up to his old tricks again. The other day he stormed into Oakdale, where he operates a farm club, the Pioneers, read the riot act to the members of the Oakdale Legion, and then, after an indifferent play, laid down an overall-win-or-eat dictum, stormed out of town again... Next time out: Oakland 10, San Francisco 2.

Shamus O'Cassidy liked Roddy McDonald to catch the nod over Halligan but figures the bout will go right down the line the round limit.

Sandberg An Architect

Bob Sandberg, whose name has been introduced as a possible coach for an Edmonton senior grid machine is a graduate (Montreal) architect... If he doesn't land a coaching job during the next season it won't be surprising if he retires from active play... Down in Houston, where LeRoy Goldsworthy general manager has a hockey team for Buffalo Bisons, the Jacobs brothers angled behind the United States league aggregation are doing "their best" to keep him... There's talk that Operation Houston will be abandoned and the rest moving along with the franchise to Milwaukee or some other spot... Julian Sawchuk, former EAC junior now with Cleveland in the pro ranks was scheduled to undergo head surgery for the removal of a brain tumor growing from the base of the brain. He was involved in earlier in the season... Wonder if Gordon Self and other Junior league executives could work it out to bring one of the better teams of the Western Canada Junior League to the Arena for an exhibition game... It's not thought that an all-star team be chosen to meet the EAC in a game, but the possibility of a team meeting a contest might redound to the credit of the local kids.

Add colorful sport "handles": A wrestler appealing around Los Angeles who carries the colorful cognomen of Box Car Biedelbaum.

Montreal's 'Rocket' Object of 'Rumpus'

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(CP)—The "Rocket" is replacing the flying saucer as the mystery provoking the most headlines.

The young genius who defied Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadians score goals in the 1944-45 season and only 28 last year.

Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers says this is the answer: Richard sifted through was weakened by the stars who really earned their goals. Anybody can score against cream puffs. It's a little tougher against brick ice cream."

ON TO ROBINSON ALL A MISTAKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—For four hours Tuesday night, Sugar Ray Robinson, the world's welterweight champ, was banned from fighting in New York and five other states.

But it was all a mistake, and today Robinson holds a clean bill of health.

The round of excuses began when secretary John Christensen of the State Athletic commission proclaimed that Robinson had been placed on the "ill and unavailable list" for having failed to go through with a bout with Henry Brown of Newark, N. J.

Turned out that Robinson had paid the Buffalo promoter $1,200 to obtain a release from the original date and had signed a new contract to fight there Jan. 11.

Nobody thought to tell secretary Christensen about it.

HOTTEST GOAL-SNIPER in the NHL these days is veteran Grant (Nobby) Warwick of Boston Bruins. Warwick did it again last night, scoring two goals as Bruins topped Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1.

Pantelleria Easy Mark for Allies

Eisenhower Tells Story Of Campaign To Take Sicily

This is a condensed serialization of Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Campaign in Europe." It contains highlights of the book to be published Nov. 20, 1948. Copyright 1948 by Doubleday and Company. The serialization is in 30 chapters, which will appear daily in The Bulletin.—EDITOR.

During the final weeks of the Tunisian campaign, particularly after the outcome could be definitely foreseen, major staffs were busy planning our next campaign. As directed by the Casablanca Conference, this was to be the capture of Sicily.

At Casablanca the Sicily operation was based upon for two reasons, the first of which was its great immediate advantage in opening up Mediterranean sea routes.

The second was that because of the relatively small size of the island, its capture would not absorb unforeseen amounts of allied strength in the event that the enemy should undertake any large-scale counteroffensive.

ECHELON ASSAULT

Because of the estimated length it took to march across Sicily and their reinforcements over the southern and eastern beaches, we studied and tentatively adopted a plan that contemplated assault from the north, then southeast, followed by a second one in the south, and third in the vicinity of Palermo.

While these plans were still in preparation, study indicated the desirability of first capturing Pantelleria lying roughly between Sicily and the north-eastern coast of Tunisia. This island was well known to the vice-admiral of the central Mediterranean and was assumed by many to be untenable.

Many of our experienced commanders and staff officers strongly advised against this course of action, since any failure would have a disheartening effect on the troops to be committed to Sicily. However, Admiral Cunningham, in particular, agreed with me that the place could be taken at slight cost. We based our decision on the fact that the

...of a cent each he'd buy all the prisoners we could get.

In late May, a month before we were to attack Sicily, Prime Minister Churchill, Field Marshal Alanbrooke, chief of the Imperial General Staff, came to my headquarters to discuss further the plan of attack. I had been involved in some risk for a man of his importance.

And another of estimation of attacking Overlord could always be guaranteed to bring Marshall and me charging into the breach and making an emphatic refusal to consider such an idea for an instant.

WAGNER STORM TOLD

A small wager between us had grown out of his estimate that there were no more than 3,000 Italian troops on the island. I bet him five cents each for all we captured in excess of that number, and he bet me $100 that he had naturally forgotten the joking wager he had paid up promptly, figuring the exchange him and I had in our grasp, and saving everything for the main operation in northwest Europe.

In private conversation, however, Brooke told me that he would be glad to reconsider the crossing of the channel invasion, but not any action that might prove necessary.

We were guests of Field Marshal Lord Gort, governor of the island.

Everything was proceeding with remarkable speed until June 9, the actual day of the assault. Then the weather, which in that part of the Mediterranean is generally warm in summer, began to deteriorate so badly as to threaten our success.

Since the wind direction was generally from the west, it was the southern beaches for which we had chosen, and those beaches would have the shelter of the island itself.

I spent some hours with Admiral

WAGNER BURNS BAD

General Alexander, Admiral Cunningham, and I all went to Malta a day or so before the attack was to begin, to make sure that no action that might prove necessary.

We were guests of Field

Marshal Lord Gort, governor of the island.

Everything was proceeding with remarkable speed until June 9, the actual day of the assault. Then the weather, which in that part of the Mediterranean is generally warm in summer, began to deteriorate so badly as to threaten our success.

Since the wind direction was generally from the west, it was the southern beaches for which we had chosen, and those beaches would have the shelter of the island itself.

I spent some hours with Admiral

Cunningham in his office, to which meteorological specialists brought frequent reports and forecasts. They were in the habit of referring to wind velocity in terms of "Force." "It would come a man and say, 'The wind is Force V, Sir.' For me this had to be translated into miles per hour, but I had to do this in the dark, in realizing that Force V was worse than Force IV. However, the calculations suggested for sundries and this cheered us, because if that tends to continue conditions by mid-morning would be satisfactory."

But the evening wore on and the wind velocity increased alarmingly. That was nothing we could do but pray, and velocity decreased.

ZERO HOUR NEARS

Some of us went outside for a short walk, but we watched the wind indicators fearfully, almost prayfully, because the hour was fast approaching when it would be impossible to turn back assaulting forces from their intended landings, with the result that General Marshall: "Is the attack on or off? My reaction was that I wish I knew."

Evening approached with predictions indicating some slight improvement. We decided to proceed as planned, and so radioed to General Marshall: "My feeling is that the southern coast should find it necessary to delay landing, those on the northern coast should proceed."

"For me this had to be translated into miles per hour, but I had to do this in the dark, in realizing that Force V was worse than Force IV. However, the calculations suggested for sundries and this cheered us, because if that tends to continue conditions by mid-morning would be satisfactory."

Eire Moves to Cut Last Tie With Empire

DUBLIN, Nov. 18.—(CP)—In a 10-second procedure the Dail (parliament) yesterday gave the green light to the movement of Eire.

The packed benches gave unanimous leave to the prime minister to introduce the Republic of Eire Bill. This roughly is equivalent to an act repealing the executive powers of the viceroy.

"An act to repeat the executive powers of the viceroy as set out in 1936, to declare that the description of the state shall be the Republic of Ireland, and to give the president the exercise executive power or any executive function of the state in connection with its external relations."

That means briefly that Eire's diplomats and foreign ministers will be accredited through the king. This hitherto has been the sole remaining tie to Britain and hence to the commonwealth at large.

PUREX QUALITY PRODUCTS

The weeds which often accompany baby's first solid foods are caused by the fact that baby's immature digestive system cannot completely digest coarse fibers and the cellulose walls of food cells. Even the most carefully strained foods do not break them down.

Baby Libby's patented homogenization process purifies them before the process of digestion begins so that baby's digestive juices can immediately act on the liberated nutrients.

As a result, baby can digest Libby's quickly and completely. He gets more nourishment than from the same amount of food which has been strained but not homogenized, and with less risk of digestive disturbance.

Edmonton's Golden Era Lives Again at Pioneers' Annual Round-Up

INDIAN TRANSLATION of "Sturgeon River" gave the name "Nanoo" to a tiny settlement near old Fort Edmonton, and among first pioneers to settle there was Mrs. T. M. Long. Early Nanoo days were recalled Wednesday by Mrs. Long, one of more than 400 guests at the Pioneers' Annual Round-up.

PROGRESS WAS MEASURED when buckboard and ox-cart were replaced on the Strathcona-Fort Calgary trail by slate-seated coaches of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Occasion "seems like yesterday" to pioneer J. J. Duggan who first came to Edmonton as a member of the construction crew.

Pro-Communist Speakers Routed By Egg Barrage

SPEDDEN, Alta., Nov. 18.—(CP)—A protest meeting held today that routed two pro-Communist speakers at a recent meeting in this tiny municipality some 100 miles west of Edmonton was revealed Wednesday.

A reliable source said the Canadian speakers took exception to parts of speeches made by the two unnamed speakers at the meeting, threw eggs. Asked whether either of the two men were injured, the informant replied: "Eggs won't hurt you very much."

They were asked if the speakers had another appearance at Smoky Lake, in the same district. The meeting took place a week ago to the day, and the informant said when one of the speakers mentioned cultural and political freedom.

An earlier story identified one of the men as William Tereso, a former school teacher from Myrtle, Alta. Another speaker has not been named. The other man was not named but the story said he was a close friend of Tereso for a tour of Alberta.

The story added that the unidentified man was injured during a fight and that Tereso took refuge in the basement of the hall when he was brought to "rough up" his companion.

The first steamship to cross the Atlantic ocean was the Rising Sun in 1818. The vessel was built in Britain by Lord Cochrane.

Miss MacLeod Praises Canadian Literature

Business and Professional Women Celebrate Annual National Night

To some gloomy souls there is no Canadian literature to speak of, and what there is has no cheerful aspects.

Mrs. Flora MacLeod, librarian of the University of Alberta English Department, said this to the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Club last night.

The club was celebrating its National Night with a dinner at the Seven Seas Restaurant.

Miss MacLeod proceeded to refute this statement by pointing out some cheerful aspects to Canadian literature by proving that there is.

Humorous Canadian writers such as J. B. Hildebrand and Leacock are the ones who have made Canada known outside Canada. Miss MacLeod said. Homer deals with incongruity and absurdities in life which affect all of humanity than the incongruous. That is why we like it, she added. The humorists show ourselves.

Growth and maturity of the Canadian people will be reflected in our literature, she said. This is the raw material for our writers, Miss MacLeod said.

A discussion was introduced by Miss Margaret McCallum and then carried on by Mrs. Vera Campbell.

Miss Campbell, who has just returned from a trip to Britain spoke on her visit. She said that the English people are very fond of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Members of the club in Britain are more numerous than in Canada due to their more than twice as many visitors.

While in Britain, Mrs. Campbell discussed a meeting of the Baptists Church and the famous musical festival in National Night it is annually by business and professional women. For this occasion, the Edmonton club received a message from Mrs. D. H. McNeil, national president of the club.

Said Mrs. Campbell: "We told members to always be on guard to defend their freedom and form of government. The letter was read by Miss Eva Sanger.

Mrs. Isobel MacLennan, president of the Edmonton club, spoke of the need for interested and informed people to take their place in politics and other activities of the community.

She mentioned that the Red Deer Club is celebrating its first anniversary this Saturday, Oct. 25, and will welcome any guests from Edmonton for the occasion.

New Weed Killer Is 'Dramatic' Find

Discovery And Development Of 2,4-D Outlined At Meet

CALGARY, Nov. 28.—(CP)—The discovery and development of 2,4-D is the "most rapid and dramatic development in agricultural history," Dr. T. V. Pavlychenko said in an address yesterday before the final session of the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts.

Dr. Pavlychenko, a leading authority on weed control, was professor at the University of Saskatchewan, and now resides in California. He outlined steps leading to the discovery of the new weed killer, the story of more than 200 convention delegates.

MAJOR BUSINESS

Major business carried out during the three-day convention was a discussion of the financial needs and provincial-municipal financing and approval of a resolution calling for a new plebiscite on public ownership of the distribution of electrical power in the province.

Delegates also instituted a move to demand that the Canadian government take to ban burning of stubble by farmers.

James Wheadley of Chancery, was re-elected to his fifth term of office.

Dr. Pavlychenko said proper use of chemicals had made it possible for the world's farmers to produce more food cheaper, thereby alleviating the threat of world hunger and the rising cost of living.

Field crops provided the best adaptability for 2,4-D and Dr. Pavlychenko said it had many other uses.

Bush control offered major possibilities for the chemical-removal of

'WOLVES' TAKE CHANCES HERE

PROVIDA, Ill., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Stella Watkins, 24, was held yesterday for carrying a gun which she told police was for protection against "the robbing wolves of Peoria." Police said they found a loaded .38-caliber revolver in her car during a checkup after receiving a report the woman had flashed the weapon in a tavern.

of woody growth from irrigation ditches, roadways and waste land. It assist in the job of keeping the soil from blowing away. The chemical made the maintenance of forest fire guards more effective.

Hormone substances now available could be used to prevent fall foliage from freezing. Fall foliage would ripen in the winter, the root crop was ripe, to provide better growth of grass in new seedbeds. It was suggested to the planting stage; to intensify growth and beauty of roses; and to prevent frost damage from occurring. It could be sown and tall or short and stout, with abundant fruit or flowers.

It is estimated that 3,000,000 bats live in New Mexico's Carlsbad Caverns.

REFUGEES FROM REDS are flocking out of Shanghai, which is running short of food as Communist army threatens city. They make use of all space outside as well as inside this train, shown pulling out recently.

Initial Rate Of $2 Bushel Is Suggested

SASKATOON, Nov. 18.—(CP)—

Carrying the same suggestion as a recent resolution asking an initial payment of $2 a bushel for wheat "until such time as we arrive at parity,"

Some delegates said $2 a bushel is not enough, because costs have risen out of all proportion with allowed.

farm income." Others questioned whether the UFC might not be defeating the wheat board's long-term policy in demanding a high initial payment.

The incoming executive will be defeating the wheat board's long-term policy in demanding a high initial

30 Mennonite Deaths Blamed on Dysentery

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18.—(CP)—Sickness was reported yesterday to have caused the death of more than 30 members of the Mennonite group of 1,700 which transferred its roots from western Canada to Paraguay last summer.

B. B. Dubenski, Winnipeg, who accompanied the group and who accompanied them on the trip to South America said he had been told by one of the band in a letter from one of the band. The writer, since had returned to Manitoba along with others of the Mennonites.

Mr. Dubenski said the letter contained the news that 20 children and adults had died. All children among the emigrants had contracted dysentery from the change in water and diet. The disease had been responsible for the deaths.

The medical advisor said he knew of only three families that had returned to Manitoba because of dissatisfaction with their lot in Paraguay, but many others had settled in 1926. He admitted that other families could have returned.

Mr. Dubenski identified the author as Peter F. Heppner, now located at Altona, Man. He said he intended to talk Monday with Heppner and other Mennonites who took leave of Canada last June, sailing from the port of Galt.

MORE TO FOLLOW

Tuesday, it was reported that two Mennonite families which had returned to Altona from Paraguay had died. More Mennonites would be following them back to Canada because of extreme hardships and the high cost of living among the group.

Mr. Dubenski said yellow fever was a menace in the district where Paraguay but that conditions generally were good.

NAGOYA, Japan, Nov. 18.—(CP)—A party of a few people dropped out of sight around here these dark days. They are the men who carry Nagaoka's wooden manhole covers for scarce firewood. The men are said to be the old metal ones for scrap during the war.

Dec. 23 Set For By-Election

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18.—(CP)—A by-election has been called for the Manitoba constituency of Fairford for Dec. 23 to fill the seat left vacant in the provincial legislature by the resignation of Premier

Mr. Stuart, recently appointed federal minister of price control.

Nomination day will be Dec. 18.

Mr. Garrison has represented Fairford in the 55-seat provincial house for 10 years. In the 1945 Manitoba elections he polled 1,254 votes and his only opponent, CCF candidate G. W. Leonard, 204 votes.

MACHINERY VALUE TO FARMERS DOUBTED

SASKATOON, Nov. 18.—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Noller of Saskatchewan yesterday told the United Farmers of Canada convention that "the machine age which hit agriculture did not bring any real benefits to farmers; it forced us into larger farm units."

Many small farmers could not finance the machinery necessary to compete in the changed times, and 15,000 of them had been forced off the land, Mr. Noller said.

"Small farmers can obtain the machinery cooperatively, and then turn to pooling of land," he said. "If not, 50,000 farmers may some day operate all the farms."
